A Man Fell

Someone told the following story... I was connecting in Dallas for my flight back to Denver and had just come down the escalator from the SkyLink. Around the corner from me, I heard an agonizing cry. At first, I didn't recognize it for what it was. Then, I heard it again. And again. It was chilling. Walking just a few steps, I saw the source. A large man was lying face down in the middle of the concourse. He was immobile. Several people were gathering around him, but no one seemed to know what to do. Most had no idea what had happened to him. I feared it was a heart attack and wondered if this was going to be a fatal event. EMTs soon arrived with a gurney to administer aid to this traveler. While I have no idea how this will turn out, what struck me was the looks on everyone's faces. He was trying to maintain his dignity, but people everywhere around this scene were visibly distraught and felt for this man. They looked fearful or at least concerned. Things like this do not happen every day, to say the least.

Seeing this unforgettable scene made me appreciate the sober picture God has painted for us in His Word about those who are separated from Him. Galatians 5:4 terms it “fallen from grace.” Hebrews 6:6 speaks of some who have “fallen away.” Revelation 2:5 reveals that the Ephesus church had “fallen.” Jesus speaks of some who “fall away” (Luke 8:13). Romans 11:11 speaks of one stumbling so as to fall. The rich can fall (1 Tim. 6:9), but so can any child of God (Heb. 4:11; 2 Pet. 3:17). Repeatedly, this imagery is used of those who enter spiritual peril. It's a dangerous position!

As we consider that story there are things we need to consider... How often do I look at the people I encounter every day, who may seem physically fit and strong, but whose sins are not covered by Christ's blood? Do I realize how dire their situation is? As we think about that poor, fallen man in Dallas, I'm sure we are concerned for his soul. But what about the souls of all of the concerned onlookers? Statistically speaking (Mat. 7:13-14), the majority of people we meet each day in the world are traveling the broad rather than the narrow way. We need to learn to feel a concern and sense of urgency for them. We know the Great Physician and know that He can help every case! May God grant us the courage to step through the open doors that may spell the eternal difference between life and death!
